Life Long New Lenox Woman Died Jan. 8

Mrs. Mary E. Wilson, life-long resident of New Lenox, died in her home January 8, following a lingering illness.

Born in New Lenox 80 years ago, the daughter of Myron and Lydia Holmes, she became the wife of Louis Wilson. Last June they celebrated their golden anniversary. Her parents operated a grocery store in Spencer many years. She was a member of the Royal Neighbors of America, the Will County Home Bureau and the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church.

Surviving are her husband, six daughters, Mrs. Iona Rouse and Mrs. Francis King, Plainfield; Mrs. Edna Beadle and Mrs. Rose Allen, Joliet; Miss M. Irene Haines, Chicago; and Mrs. Edith Sayers, New Lenox; one sister, Mrs. Edith Glover, Spencer.

Funeral services were held in the New Lenox Methodist church last Tuesday afternoon with the pastor Rev. Ralph Miller officiating. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, New Lenox.

New Lenox Women Beat Men at Bowling

Some New Lenox women are walking on air this week, feeling mighty proud, and in contrast, some New Lenox men are in the dumps.

It all came about when the New Lenox State Bank's women's team bowled the Bank's men's team last Saturday night. It is surmised that the men knew before they started that they would be the winners, but what a blow when the men found they had really good competitors. They began to do some sweating, but to no avail, for of all things, the men took a beating by 59 pins.

Mrs. Dola Stevenson and Mary Morris were tops for the women. Better luck next time, men!

Heights. Mr. Chester Kolmodin, a member of a former church of Rev. Munson's in Chicago, also brought a greeting as did Mr. Robert Meyers from the Hegewisch Methodist church.

Rev. and Mrs. Munson were presented with a purse from the two local churches. Also presented was a corsage to Mrs. Munson and a boutonniere to Rev. Munson. Rev. and Mrs. Munson responded with talks and Mrs. Alvin Wanner sang the "Lord's Prayer" in closing accompanied by Carol Jean Wanner.

Refreshments were served in the parlors of the church where a huge wedding cake was the center of the beautifully decorated table. Mrs. Alfred Krapf, president of the Green Garden WSCS and Mrs. Amanda Mark, president of the Frankfort WSCS, poured and Mrs. Jake Hostert and Mrs. William Bettenhausen Jr. served the wedding cake. Mrs. Elmer Bettenhausen was in charge of the guest book.

Out of town guests besides those mentioned above were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kolmodin of Chicago Heights and Mrs. Wilson Crisman of Oak Park; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moonie, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Meyers, Miss Margaret Bede, Richard Matthews of Chicago and the celebrant's son, David B. Munson Jr. of Evanston. All the guests visited in the parsonage with the Munsons at the close of the celebration. Rev. and Mrs. Westerberg were week end guests.

Following the meeting, there will be a social hour, and refreshments will be served by mothers of the 5th and 6th grade pupils, with Mrs. Ralph Knakmuhs and Mrs. Gustav Landahl in charge.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

The January meeting of the Executive board of the Mokena PTA was held Tuesday, January 10 in the home of President and Mrs. Paul Cowling-Lyman Teague, Publicity chairman.

2 ALL DAY FARM MEETS JAN. 26

January 26 will be a banner day for Will county farmers. Arrangements have been completed to hold an all day meeting, both at Beecher and in Joliet, at which time four outstanding speakers from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture will bring Will county farmers a lot of valuable information.

Both meetings will start at 10:00 A. M. and adjourn at 3:00 P. M. Those in the eastern part of Will county will probably want to attend a meeting arranged especially for them at the Beecher Community Building.

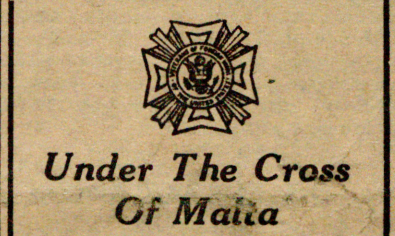

Farmers in the western part of the county will probably find it more convenient to go to Ottawa Street Methodist church, corner of Cass and Ottawa Streets, Joliet.

All four speakers will appear at both places, and will present the same material at both meetings.

H. B. Petty, well known insect expert, will be present to discuss the European corn borer problem and all possible suggested practical control measures. He will also discuss the fly control recommended program, as well as other miscellaneous insect problems, according to the wishes of the audience.

Since Will county has more corn borer over-wintering than any other county, it's expected that just about every farmer will want to secure information which will enable them to be in better position to fight this pest.

Other discussions will cover subjects of crop varieties for 1950; good land use program; with the planting of more legumes and grasses this year, the subject of how to best use these roughages will be important.

A special meeting is called Friday night, January 20 at the new Vets hall for the purpose of drawing up by-laws and selecting officers of Wm. Martin VFW, Inc., which is the organization that will have charge of the new building. At this meeting it is planned to set up the rules and regulations in the operation of the building, set the rentals etc. All members of the VFW post are urged to attend this important meeting.

It is planned as a challenge to the membership to hold the grand opening on March 17, St. Patrick's day. We are planning on holding a dance which will be open to the public, and members are urged to put forth special efforts to have the building complete at that time—an hour or so an evening of work on the part of each member will make this possible, says our commander.

FIVE CHILDREN RESCUED FROM CAR BY MRS. R. STANKUS AS AUTO LANDS IN STONE QUARRY

Driver Lifts Kiddies Out of Car To Roof Until Aid Arrives

HOMER SCHOOL SITUATION

By MRS. ELIZABETH ANDERSON

The straw votes from each of Homer's eight school districts, which were opened and counted at the final one of a series of meetings at Goodings Grove school last Monday evening showed quite plainly that the proposed consolidation is not wanted, at the present time at least. The total count was 25 votes for and 138 against the plan, and while this was far from a 100% vote, it was probably fairly representative.

There are many reasons for this situation; for one thing, the cost was shown to be considerably more than for operating the schools as they are; the township is in the rather unique situation of having almost no taxable property except farmland and small homes, therefore they need to be careful; and no one will deny that this is a high priced time to build. Also the maintenance of buses, drivers and necessary road improvements would probably add more to the expense than would the school itself; while the roads are gravelled, most of them are not up to the state standard for bus traffic; there is moreover, a decided aversion to exposing small children to the hazards of long bus trips, and waits, in inclement weather.

Two of the districts, Goodings Grove and Barnett, have fairly new buildings which are adequate for present needs, and Homer Likes Its Neighborhood Schools!

On the whole, they have been very fortunate in securing good teachers, several of whom in years past, were educated in these same schools. Many top ranking high school students and some in college have received their primary education here.

With farm land being turned into subdivisions here and there, it is impossible to tell where the center of school population will be in a short time, and the prevalent idea seems to be that it isn't wise to build one school to which many pupils will have to be transported over a long period of time, but rather to improve the schools as necessary to accommodate the growing population.

Solterman district, whose school-room asked for this investigation, are planning to hold a special election soon to vote on a bond issue for financing a two-room school, so planned that it may later be enlarged if necessary.

Petition Granted to Have Rural Mail Carrier Service

Several months ago, a petition was circulated by Mrs. Harry Lozaw to have rural mail carrier service, and their request was granted by the postal authorities.

Monday the seven families living on Wolf Road just south of 167th street received their mail by carrier in their mail boxes in front of their homes for the first time. Heretofore, these families had to walk the quarter mile to 167th street to get mail from their boxes placed near that corner.

These seven families were busy Sunday transferring their boxes from the corner to their own homes. This territory is in the jurisdiction of the Orland Post office and the rural carrier from that office delivers the mail to their door, the southern boundary being the driveway of the Lozaw home.

Needless to say, all are happy over this new arrangement.

A. C. Bauch sold a home owned by him on Oak Street formerly occupied by the Louis Childress family, to Adolph Ullrich of Green Garden.

Robert Fredin sold his home on Pacific street to Mr. and Mrs. Corneilus Weiriga of Chicago Heights.

CARD PARTY

The Summit Hill Boosters will sponsor their regular card party Friday night, January 20 at 8 o'clock in the school. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Russell Stankus and five small children miraculously escaped death by drowning last Sunday when their car ran into a small stone quarry south of Mokena.

In the car with Mrs. Stankus were her three grandchildren, Wayne Guthrie 7, Ann Guthrie 5, Pamela Guthrie 2, and two foster children, Andrew Pfister 8, and Gregory Pfister 7. They were returning home from attending Sunday school in the Mokena Methodist church, going south on Wolf road in a 1949 sedan.

As they neared the bridge over the creek at the bottom of the cemetery hill, she noticed a car stalled in the middle of the road just ahead of her. She stepped on the brakes, the car skidded on a patch of ice on the pavement, which threw the car on the shoulder of the road, into a ditch, over a deep embankment and into the small quarry filled with water.

Ice of several inches covered the water, and as the car started to sink, water was entering from the bottom. The children were screaming with fright as the water engulfed them. Then with quick thinking, Mrs. Stankus, pushed each child through the car window to the top of the car which was then just a foot above the water level.

Following close behind was a neighbor of the Stankus', Marion Owen, who came to their aid at once; ran across the street to the Rodgers home to get Harry Rodgers, 25, to assist him; and drove quickly to the Stankus home, corner Wolf road and route 30 and brought back Mrs. Stankus' son, Russell, Jr., 24. The three men tied ropes to themselves and waded in the ice cold water and took the children and Mrs. Stankus from the car. They were taken to the Rodgers home where the children were undressed and put in bed at once. Mrs. Stankus drove to her home and got dry clothing for herself and children.

The car stalled belonged to Stanley Yunker of New Lenox township, who called the Cooper & Hostert wrecker from Mokena. At the same time a wrecker from Joliet came. Ronald Steen and Harold Larimore of Mokena waded into the icy water and had difficult work to hook the two wreckers on the car to pull it out of the quarry, which it is estimated is about eight or ten feet deep. The windows had to be broken in order to hook the top and thus pull the car out.

Mrs. Stankus, and the children, after all were warmly dressed, went to the office of Dr. E. C. McMahon in Mokena where they were examined, and all found to be alright except Wayne, who has a cut near the eye. All are recovering from the shock nicely.

The car Mrs. Stankus was driving belonged to her son, Russell, it is badly damaged and was towed to the Cooper & Hostert garage. It is fully insured.

BASKETBALL

The Tinley Sportsmen lost a close one to Mokena last night. As in the New Lenox game, the Sportsmen held a comfortable lead going into the second half but this time they could not hold it. Tinley led 26-17 at the half, but were outscored 42-19 the second half, and finally lost 59-45.

Don Tomlinson led the Tinley attack with 16 points and Warning was top scorer for Mokena with 24 points. Coach Nasebandt was very dissatisfied with Tinley's play in the second half and is trying to solve this second half let-down. There are several possibilities for their slump, but my guess is that the competition for a starting berth has caused many of the players to forget team work and try to score by themselves.

However, no matter what the reason or reasons may be, I am sure the coach will iron them out and produce a stronger second half team.

Jan. 24 the Sportsmen will meet Summit at the Tinley gym. The time of the game is eight o'clock and I am sure that all who attend will be satisfied with Tinley's performance.

Seek Decision on Constitutionality Of State Plumber's License Law

A clear-cut decision on the constitutionality of the Illinois Plumbers' licensing law will be sought by the organized contractors in the state, but no ruling may be expected before midsummer from the State Supreme Court.

In a Macon County case, Judge Grenias held that the license law violated Section 3 of the Illinois constitution, and that it gave an unwarranted delegation of power to the state license examination board.

If the Macon county decision is upheld, the public would be at the mercy of anyone who called himself a plumber, and the businesses of hundreds of established contractors in Illinois would be threatened, according to a spokesman of the master plumbers' organization.

The outcome of this controversy may possibly affect the licensing of other trades and professions in the State of Illinois.

From Congressman N. M. Mason

What the first session of the Eighty-first Congress Approved. The 81st Congress has already placed its stamp of approval upon the following requests of President Truman:

1. A Minimum Wage Bill increasing the minimum wage from 40c per hour to 75c per hour.
2. A Public Housing Program that will cost the Federal Government $1 1/2 billion per year for the next ten years.
3. The Atlantic Military Aid Pact and Military Aid to implement the Atlantic Pact; initial cost $1 1/2 billion-but a total cost of several billion dollars.
4. Continuation of the Marshall

Plan Aid to Europe at a cost of $5 to $7 billion per year.

What the Eighty-first Congress has not approved, so far. The 81st Congress has steadfastly refused to grant the following requests of the President: 1. Increase taxes $4 billion per year. 2. The Brannan Farm Plan at a cost of $6 to $8 billion per year. 3. Federal Aid to Education at a cost of $300 million to $3 billion per year. 4. The President's National Health Program (Socialized Medicine) at a cost of from $6 to $10 billion per year.

5. A Universal Military Training Bill, to cost $2 to $3 billion per year. 6. Expansion and Liberalization of the Social Security Program at a cost of from $3 to $8 billion per year. 7. Repeal the Taft-Hartley Act. 8. The F.E.P.C. and other so-called Civil Rights Bills.

1950, the year of decision. America is at the cross roads. From now on we either travel the road that leads to national bankruptcy, debt repudiation, and Dictatorship, or we continue to travel the road our forefathers trod, the road that has brought us to our present pinnacle of world leadership, to a standard of living that is the envy of every other nation, with political, economic and religious freedom thrown in as an important part of our American Way of Life. We must make our choice. 1950 is the "year of Decision."

If the 81st Congress, during its present session, does not give President Truman what he demands, at a cost of between $18 and $32 billion per year on top of the present $42 billion budget-and we predict this Congress will not-the President says he will go to the country and ask the voters to give him a Congress that will approve what he wants.

The price tag on these items is national bankruptcy, debt repudiation.

PLAY BECOMES A SCIENCE—The luckiest children in Washington, D. C., are those living around Parkside playground which was recently dedicated as a dreamland for children. Built by the fathers of Parkside's 430 children on their spare time, the playground features a cinder-block airplane, a ship, hurdles, tunnels and an amphitheater. Parkside gives the children a chance to use some imagination in making their own games.

tion, and Socialism. Do we want to pay this price? Do we want to travel the road that leads to Socialism? The American Voter will give his answer to this question next fall.

wins U. S. Corn Crown

A yield of 209.33 bushels per acre is more than five times the U.S.D.A. estimated 1949 average yield for the United States. Yet, that's the kind of corn Verle Little (left) grew on his Lake County, Indiana farm to win the National Corn Crown in the 1949 DeKalb Selected 5-Acre Corn Growing Contest. The National Championship yield, as well as all other yields in the contest, were accurately calculated according to contest rules.

In making his record-breaking yield, Corn King Little drill-planted his DeKalb Hybrid Variety 609 on a black sandy-loam selected 5-acre contest plot that had been cropped for the first time last year. He used both manure and commercial fertilizer, spring plowed his field and then double disced and harrowed before planting. A pre-emergence spray was applied to control weeds.

Business and Clergy Back 'Clean' Books Literature Fight

Striking at the flood of lascivious literature enjoying widespread sale, a prominent Chicago business group has combined with civic leaders and the clergy to sponsor two new "clean" novels offering excitement and sentiment, but without smut. Long range purpose of this group is to curb questionable literature by offering exciting-but clean-novels as a desirable substitute.

Heading the cleric list of sponsors is Bishop Martin D. McNamara of the Joliet Diocese. Commenting on the first novels published, Bishop McNamara said: "The Diocesan censor has given exceptional praise to these new books 'The Mountains Moved,' and the 'Hallowed Hour.' We have found both novels to be thrilling and powerful. And this effort to supply clean literature to our people is to be commended."

Both books inaugurating the clean-literature drive were written by a literary-gifted member of the businessmen's group, A. H. Parr, of Glen Ellyn, Ill. Mr. Parr sold his successful manufacturing business so he could devote his entire time and literary talents to the furtherance of this movement.

As proof of their determination and sincerity, the militant sponsors and author have guaranteed to turn over all profits from this publishing effort to worthy charities. In addition, they are marketing their books in "pocket size" form at twenty-five cents per copy to reach even the most economically minded public.

ic and patriotic activities, Deacon Jones was also the depot agent at one of the stations on the road down home. He knew everybody in town by name and when it came to answering their various inquiries, he was a regular Whitney Carter. "They're just being sociable," he often said. "There's no such thing as a foolish question." And he lived right up to that standard, except for one rare occasion, which few people ever knew all about.

Business was booming and extra trains were passing in the night. In order to forward the movement it was deemed necessary that a night operator be put on. The fellow who showed up to work while the town slept was not our kind of people but nobody ever criticized the Chief for sending him there. After all he could really telegraph, and since that was the only means of communication how was the dispatcher to know that he talked with a decided northern brogue. "Whenever one of these hicks has nothing else to do he invariably comes up to that window over the desk grade hold of the iron bars and starts talking," he informed the Deacon after his first night on the

PLASTIC PROGRESS

JOHN WESLEY HYATT

DR. LEO H. BACKLUND

Elephants were getting scarce in Africa about the time of our Civil War. They were slaughtered for their ivory tusks. An award of $10,000 was offered for a suitable substitute to replace ivory for billiard balls. John Wesley Hyatt, 24-year-old Albany printer, wanted that award and his profit from a patent. He set up a laboratory back of his house and spent all his spare time piddling with explosive chemicals. He came up with celluloid. That was the beginning of the enormous plastics industry of today. A half-century later Dr. Leo H. Backlund invented bakelite. Plastic materials now surround us. Picture at right shows plastic telephones, table top and lamp, tree ornaments, book cover, chair covering, pen and shoe soles. The little cowboy has a plastic hatband, toys and belt.

job. "Now you see where I have dug up the ground. Every once in a while you get out and sprinkle with water and it will help them to realize something is planted there. If the power of suggestion is not enough just push this switch and presto—they will never bother you again."

Well, the Deacon was taking a hot thirty-one when an old lady asked about the up train; let out a scream and fell backwards. He upset the stove in the waiting room as he ran to her assistance. Fortunately there was not enough electricity to do any real damage and she never knew she had tramped right where something was planted—a piece of sheet copper with wires attached.

Illinois TAX FACTS

By George E. Mahlin, Executive Secretary
Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Is there room in the poorhouse for 149 million people?

In 1932 Franklin D. Roosevelt, then a residential candidate, had this to say about government spending: "Any government, like any family, can for a year spend a little more than it earns. But you and I know that a continuance of that habit means the poorhouse."

These words, important 17 years ago, have even greater significance today. Why? Because in every year since 1932 (with the exception of the two fiscal years immediately following the war) our federal government has spent more than it has collected!

In 1922 our federal government spent 4 1/2 billion dollars. For the fiscal year of 1950, it is estimated that our federal government will spend ten times that amount—45 billion dollars.

To give you an idea of just how much money this is, consider these facts from the article in January "Reader's Digest" reprinted from "Automotive News":

1. If everyone in the United States cashed in all his life insurance policies, the total would amount to 44 billion dollars. This would not be enough money to run the Government for one year.

2. If every urban home owner in this country sold his home, the total would amount to 30 billion dollars. That's just enough to run the Government for eight months.

First to Fall

Lesson for January 22, 1950

TROUBLE IN THE CHURCH can start anywhere. Sometimes it starts with the women. That was the way the early church found it. The experiment in fellowship which they tried ran into snags, for not even the first Christians were perfect. The church in Jerusalem was in a sense inter-racial. Some were born and bred in Palestine, and there were others from the outside, with Greek names, speaking Greek as their native tongue—Hellenists they were called. There was argument: Were the Hellenist widows getting their share of the church's help?

Committee Chairman

THE APOSTLES, being called on, refused to straighten the tangle themselves. Let the church elect a committee, they said. First on the list was a man named Stephen. He turned out to be most famous for being the first Christian martyr, but when he fell unconscious beneath that shower of stones, there died no ordinary man.

To begin with, he filled the bill as chairman of that Committee on Grievances. Not many men, then or now, could fill all three qualifications the Apostles required: reputation, spirituality, and wisdom.

It takes a very tactful man to settle a difficulty in which women are concerned; it takes tact to handle any committee; it takes tact to manage an inter-racial situation; it calls for wisdom to handle funds.

Debater

SOME MEN THINK themselves bigger than their jobs. Some men really are bigger, and Stephen was one of these. He spilled over, so to speak; he had even more energy and ability than the job called for. We hear of him debating around the synagogue circuit particularly in the synagogues which were used by Jews from other parts of the world.

We have no details of those debates, but we know how they always came out: Stephen got the decision. We can guess, from his great speech in the hour of his death, what his general line must have been.

Many Christians in Jerusalem at that time had little or no idea that Christianity was actually a new religion; even the name "Christian" had not been thought of. They considered it a form of the Jewish religion.

Scholar

STEPHEN'S SPEECH at his trial (Acts 7) may sound dull to some now, but it was not dull to the audience. No man makes a dull speech on the brink of death. Further, it was that speech that got him killed. His listeners may not have liked it, but they certainly did not think it dull! The beauty of the speech is that it reveals Stephen's keen insight into the religious history of his people.

Speaking without notes, he reviews the history of close to 2,000 years in a 10-minute talk, and yet brings out the main points. Only a real scholar can do that, a man who is both historian and prophet. The most important peaks in Israel's history were God's revelations to them; and Stephen shows that these revelations had never been tied to a house or a book.

No institutions and no place is indispensable to God. The same God who had wrought new things in the past had now wrought a new thing in Christ. And the religion of things in Christ.

Martyr

STEPHEN'S AUDIENCE was not convinced. Seeing murder in their eyes, Stephen knew his time was short. In a few stinging last words he reminded them that murder was an old story in that Temple. They had killed prophets, they had killed Jesus the "Just One." And now—Now they dragged Stephen out and stoned him till he died.

Well, you can stop a voice but you cannot stop an idea. Stephen was first to fall, but not the last. To this very year Christ has his martyrs, men and women who will die rather than deny him.

You can silence a man but you cannot silence truth. When the world goes against her, the Church should remember that now as then, "the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church."

INCOME TAX

by John T. Jarecki, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Illinois
Personal Exemptions

The present Federal income tax law provides a personal exemption of $600.00 for the taxpayer and an additional $600.00 for the taxpayer's spouse, if the spouse has no gross income and is not the dependent of another taxpayer.

Each person who has attained the age of 65 years before the end of the year will receive an additional exemption of $600.00, which is treated in the same manner as the ordinary exemption. A married taxpayer can claim the old age exemption of his spouse on his separate return, if she has no gross income and is not the dependent of another taxpayer.

A further exemption of $600.00 is allowed to each blind taxpayer who may also claim an additional exemption of $600.00 for a blind spouse. The same rules govern the allowance of the exemption for the blind spouse as govern the allowance of the ordinary exemption for a spouse. This blind exemption replaces the deduction of $500.00 allowed each blind person under the prior law.

The exemption allowed for each dependent under the present law is $600.00. The tests for dependency are the same as for the 1948 return. It is to be noted that dependency cannot be claimed for a person having income of $500.00 or more. It is to be noted further that the old age and blind exemptions do not apply to dependents.

Income Splitting by Husbands and Wives

The present law gives husbands and wives in all states the right to file joint returns on which their combined net income and their combined exemptions are divided by two. The tax is then computed on half the income and such tax multiplied by two.

In order to split the income it is necessary for a couple to file a joint return, because the gross income of the husband and wife must be totaled. Their deductions must be totaled. The net income is then divided by two and the tax is computed on half of the net income, allowing one-half of the combined exemptions. This result is multiplied by two in order to obtain the tax on the combined income of husband and wife. This method of computation cannot be used on a separate return.

Standard Deduction

The standard deduction (the 10% of adjusted gross income allowed in lieu of actual deductions) has been increased by the present law. Under the prior law the maximum standard deduction was limited to $500.00. In case of a joint return of married persons or the return of a single person the maximum standard deduction is increased to $1,000.00. Married persons filing separate returns are still limited to $500.00.

The standard deduction on a joint return or the return of a single person thus becomes 10% of the adjusted gross income, but not to exceed $1,000.00.

Percentage Credits Against the Tax
The Revenue Act of 1948 does not reduce either the normal tax rate or the surtax rates. It achieves a reduction in tax by increasing the percentage credit allowed against the tentative normal tax and surtax. The credits now are:

1. If the tentative tax is 1. Not over $400.00, Credit is 17% of the tentative tax.

2. If the tentative tax is Over $400.00 but not over $100,000.00, Credit is $68.00 plus 12% of excess over $400.00.

3. If the tentative tax is Over $100,000.00 Credit is $12,020.00 plus 9.75% of excess over $100,000.00.

A limitation has been set to the total amount of tax. In no case may the total tax exceed 77% of the net income.

Fun to Make, Wonderful to Eat!

REMEMBER when you used to come home from school on a snowy winter day and find the kitchen filled with the lovely, unforgettable aroma of freshly-baked home-made rolls or coffee cake? And remember how you were given a still-warm sample—even if it was pretty close to dinnertime?

Today, few of us make home-made breads, partly because we have come to believe that they take a long time to prepare. The fact is that all the actual mixing can be completed in a few minutes. Then the dough itself does most of the work. Just put it aside and let it rise. Certainly nothing could be easier than that.

Here is a recipe for an easy-to-do stollen, good to look at, fine eating for any meal. Served with fresh fruit, it becomes a handsome dessert for dinner. Then—if there is any left over—serve it again for breakfast or lunch.

Morning, noon or night, stollen is at its delicious home-made best when it is served with generous cups of steaming, fragrant coffee. Fact is, it wouldn't really be quite complete without coffee! But don't forget—everyone will want extra helpings of stollen, and you'll need extra coffee to go with it. So be sure to make enough for second cups—all the way around!

Stollen

5 tablespoons milk, scalded
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 pk. dry yeast
1 tablespoon lukewarm water
1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cups sifted enriched flour
1 egg, beaten

2 tablespoons diced citron
2 tablespoons diced candied cherries
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar
2 teaspoons hot water (about)
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 cup chopped nutmeats

Combine milk, shortening, sugar, salt; cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in water as directed on package; add to milk mixture. Add half the flour. Add egg; beat well. Add enough remaining flour to make a soft dough; mix thoroughly. Turn out on floured board; knead until smooth. Place in greased bowl; brush surface with melted shortening; let rise in warm place (80°-85°F.) until doubled in bulk (about 2 hours). Turn out on floured board; knead in citron and cherries. Fat out in circle 8 inches in diameter. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Crease, fold over like large Parkerhouse roll. Brush with melted shortening. Cover; let rise 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven, 375° F., 25 to 30 minutes. Combine confectioners' sugar and water to spreading consistency; add almond extract. Spread on warm stollen. Sprinkle with nutmeats.

NEW CONTACT LENSES—Dr. William Feinbloom, of New York City, is about to place a contact lens weighing little more than a postage stamp over the right eye of Adrienne Goldstone in a demonstration at Northern Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago. Plastic and unbreakable, the new lens is based on a newly discovered principle of successfully moving the control area onto the cornea, instead of the white of the eye. This, says Dr. Feinbloom, eliminates discomfort.

Apply For Auto License Promptly

Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett today reminded the motorist public to apply promptly for their 1950 license plates to avoid a "deadline rush" when state and city police forces start clamping down on those car owners still driving with 1949 plates.

Up to the present date, a spokesman for Barrett stated, license plates have been sent out and sold over the counter in greater numbers than in any previous year at this date—indicating that a majority of car owners applied for current plates earlier than in previous years and also that the Secretary of State's automobile dept. was processing plates at a new record high.

Currently, plates in the 700,000 series are being sold in the Chicago office of the automobile department. Passenger car plates alone are expected to reach the 2,200,000
